

Make the most of your SIAM MEMBERSHIP

Seven ways to get more involved:

1 Join a SIAM Activity Group. www.siam.org/activity

Explore common interests and exchange ideas with your peers. Already belong? Contact the SIAG officers to get more involved.

2 Organize or participate in a SIAM conference or workshop. www.siam.org/meetings

Attend SIAM conferences to keep up to date on topics in applied and computational mathematics and to share ideas with your peers. Submit suggestions for minisymposia topics, professional development activities, focus sessions, or special activities geared toward students or under-represented communities to meetings@siam.org.

3 Join a Section. www.siam.org/sections

Network with colleagues in your geographical area at regional conferences and activities.

4 Join a Student Chapter — or start one at your school. www.siam.org/chapters

Learn about careers in applied mathematics and computational science. Build networks with other students and faculty at your university or college.

5 Share interesting work, programs, or stories with your peers. Submit an article or idea to:

SIAM News (siamnews@siam.org); Unwrapped or Nuggets (pao@siam.org); SIAM Undergraduate Research Online (www.siam.org/students/siuro/submit); SIAM journals (www.siam.org/journals).

6 Participate in SIAM's Visiting Lecturer Program (VLP). www.siam.org/visiting

The SIAM Visiting Lecture Program features dynamic speakers from academia, industry, and government who speak to students on a wide variety of topics. To be considered for inclusion or to get more information on speakers, send an email to vlp@siam.org.

7 Get news on funding opportunities and science policy issues. Sign up to receive periodic emails about funding opportunities and issues affecting applied mathematics and computational science. Send your request to be added to the science policy mailing list to jcrowley@siam.org.
