... news, networking, nuance

SIAM’s online news page, SIAM Connect, does exactly what its name suggests: connect SIAM members, subscribers, and readers not only with each other, but also with the latest news and information from the field. SIAM Connect covers articles and news stories of specific interest to those in the applied math and computational science fields, including research and policy news; announcements about scholarships and prizes; trends and milestones in the larger community; and a calendar of relevant events. Readers can also broaden the scope of discussion by commenting on news items and sharing via Facebook, Twitter, or e-mail.

http://connect.siam.org

Please e-mail pao@siam.org with questions, suggestions, or comments.